

Isayeva T. A., dissertator of the Institute of Philosophy, Sociology and Law Academy of Science of Azerbaijan Republic

Characteristics of violent crimes against persons and circumstances that cause the use of special psychological knowledge in its investigation

Summary

The given general characteristic of serious crimes against the person, investigated the circumstances that cause them to use in the investigation of special psychological knowledge.

It is considered of reasons and grounds for the appointment of a forensic psychological examination.

The relations of heaviness of the crime with the bases appointment of psychological expertise are researched.

The offers for change and addition of procedural legislation are given.

Keywords: individual, special knowledge, psychological examination, legislation, admissibility of evidence